German Prize Ship Arrives At Hampton Roads--Many Passengers Turned Loose

Newport News, Feb. 1st—With the German flag flying from her mast and a German prize crew of twenty-two aboard the British steamship Appam came into Hampton Roads this morning causing great excitement. There are over five hundred persons aboard the vessel. The vessel was reported lost last week. She was captured by a German submarine on Jan. 15 off the Canary Island.

Washington, Feb. 2—Government officials this afternoon stated that if the Appam is held as prize the Prussian-American treaty of 1828 would govern.

Newport News, Feb. 3rd—Two hundred and forty five persons who were held prisoners on board the Appam were released today by order of the United States government, while two hundred other who are alleged to belong to British armed forces were compelled to remain until the government can determine their status. The vessel will likely be entered here until after the war but that has not as yet been settled.

Miners In From Groundhog Basin Property

C. L. Leeds, Bert McKay and Com. Jackson came in last night from Groundhog Basin where they have been driving the tunnel at mine. They report the property looking good and will wait here for further orders from Manager Galvin.

N. M. Tate came in from the new cannery at Union Bay the report that work is started on the wharf.

British Steamer Is Torpedoed In Mediterranean

New York, Feb. 3rd—The British steamer Belle of France was torpedoed yesterday in the Mediterranean Sea by German submarines. Nineteen lives are reported lost.

Seattle, Feb. 2—The wreck of the Volante is reported drifting about 200 miles southwest of Triangle Island. The Volante was lost in a storm in Chatham straits three weeks ago.

Parliament Buildings At Ottawa Are Blown Up

Ottawa, Feb. 4—The parliament buildings in this city were wrecked late yesterday afternoon. Gas bombs believed to have been placed by German spies caused the catastrophe. Parliament was in session at the time and many prominent officials were killed and a large number injured. Fire quickly followed the explosion and spread so rapidly that it is beyond control. Assistance is being rushed from Montreal. The greatest excitement prevails. Many thrilling rescues were made from the wrecked and burning buildings. Armed forces are patrolling the streets trying to preserve order.

Washington, Feb. 4—Officials here are stirred over the happenings at Ottawa and it is the one topic.

Seattle Is Snow Bound, Business Is Paralyzed, Much Damage Done

Seattle, Feb. 3—The snow storm which has been raging here since January 30th stopped this afternoon and it is believed the weather will moderate. Two feet of snow now on the level all over the downtown district and on Duane Hill and many other places it was over three feet deep.

The street car service is practically discontinued and business generally all over the city is at a standstill. Much damage was done by the heavy snow in the big grandstand at the University of Washington collapsed under the weight. The biggest damage was to the roof of the St. James cathedral, which was damaged to the extent of a hundred thousand dollars when the high wind blew crashing into the auditorium making a big wreckage. The outside walls of the cathedral was cracked by the impact of the storm.

One death at least is directly traceable to the snow when this morning an unidentified laborer was killed when he fell from a six-story building when he slipped while shoveling snow from the roof.

The West Seattle Christian church collapsed under the weight of wet snow causing a loss of about two thousand dollars. Many skylights and awnings in different parts of the city have given way under the weight.

The train service to and from the city is very irregular, the mountain traffic has been suspended, three northern trains are stalled here and nothing has been heard of Great Northern trains bound for Vancouver. The whole country is paralyzed by the heavy load of snow.

One of the worst features of the city now is the shortage of labor to shovel the snow to clear the streets.

President Will Speak At St. Louis Tonight

St. Louis, Feb. 3rd—St. Louis received President Wilson today singing patriotic songs. He will deliver an address here tonight.

Sitka, February 2—The heating plant at the Pioneers' Home was destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is about $450.

Zeppelins Raid English Coast--Over Fifty People Are Killed

London, Feb. 1—German Zeppelins last night flew over the coast of England and killed over fifty persons and injured nearly a hundred. The attacks were made against Staffordshire, Lincolnshire and Leicestershire.

Crown Prince Of Turkey Suicides

London, Feb. 3rd—It is reported that the Crown Prince of Turkey has committed suicide. The reported successes of the Russian forces is given as the cause.

Wall Street Men Leave For England

J. P. Morgan and Benjamin Strong, governor of New York, and members of the Federal Reserve, departed yesterday for England aboard the Rotterdam. The announcement created intense surprise in Wall Street and many wild rumors are current in financial circles.

German Zeppelins Drop Bombs On Salonika

Salonika, Feb. 2—German Zeppelins raided this place today and two Greek soldiers, five refugees and seven workmen were killed. Fifty civilians were seriously injured.

President Wilson Speaks At Kansas City

Kansas City, Feb. 3rd—In the speech here President Wilson demanded that each citizen of the United States help in an effort to have steps taken towards peace. He asked that the citizens back him up for the detention of Americans abroad and for the safety and good of the countries in the mercy. Thirty thousand persons listened to his speech.

WINCHESTER
401 Caliber
Self-Loading Rifle.

This new Winchester is reloaded by recoil,
the repeating as well as the firing mechanism being under control of the trigger finger. A bullet fired from it strikes a blow of 2038 pounds—force enough to topple over the biggest game—penetration enough to reach the innermost vital spot. Tho wonderful in operation and powerful in execution, this rifle is neither complicated
in construction nor cumbersome to handle.

It Hits Like The Hammer Of Thor.

A Ready Reckoner.
There are no cul-de-sacs for Irish wit. A "jarvey" drove Mr. Phil May, the wonderful English artist in black and white, now dead, round Dublin on his first visit to that city and in showing him the sights stopped in front of the Bank of Ireland.
"That, sorr," said he, "is th' recipi-dele iv th' money th' English take fr'm us!"
On the roof of the building are six decorative figures, and Mr. May in quipped what they represented.
"Decorative, sorr, they're th' twelve apostles."
"But," said Mr. May, "there are only eleven."
"Sure, I know that," returned the jarvey. "Th' other wans are lunshins wid th' lord himself!"

Choice.
After all, and after all,
Since ever the world began
Just to have lived and two have died
In lowly men, in lordly pride—
The noble and the honest man.
After all, and after all,
The classes are but two,
And both are rich, and both are poor,
And both still know, as they knew before,
The things which they ought to do.
After all, and after all,
Easier it we never can,
Only the choice of one have we,
And you must be and I must be A rogue or an honest man.
—John Randolph Stidman.

A Matter of Accent.
A Chicago millionaire made a visit to England recently, where he enjoyed himself famously, the only fly in the ointment being his inability to successfully grapple with the English accent. At a fashionable dance in Cade-
dan square during the height of the London season he smilingly
said to an elderly
dancer:
"Dis boss, may
I have this dance?"
"Dis sorry,"
the dancer answered, "but I'm so tired I must rest. I am, in fact, dunned out."
"Oh, not dunned out," said the breezy Chicagoan politely—"only pleasantly so."

An Unfortunate Ablution.
It is an authentic anecdote of Hogarth that he was wont to make certain miniature sketches on his thumbnail to be elaborated at an after time.
A certain dramatist followed the practice. He would write a plot in the same limited space in shorthand. He was once consulted on a new drama
by a manager.
"I have it," the writer exclaimed,
and he immediately marked the plot
upon his thumbnail. Weeks passed, but no play was presented. The manager consulted the author.
"Now, about the piece! It's done, of course. You took it on your thumbnail!"
"To be sure," replied the author,
"and there it was for some time, but,
as I'll luck would have it, I one morning unfortunately washed my hands!"

Those Girls.
Her appetite gave me a slam.
It certainly was good.
She started in on deviled ham
And then ate angel food.
—Cincinnati Enquirer.

She was the loveliest of girls
And always cutting capers—
In fact, she would put up her curls
Each night in comic papers.
—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Equal to the Occasion.
"Didn't I see you holding my daughter's hand in the parlor last night?"
exclaimed the irate father.
"Y-y-y-es, sir," stammered the youth.
"I read in the paper the other day that the wrist contains eight bones, the palm five and the fingers fourteen, and I was only trying to confirm the statement, sir."—Yonkers Statesman.

He Needed Proof.
It was after 10 o'clock at night, and the jury had just been discharged.
A stout jurymen came over to the reporters' table. He had a worried look.
"You are an Evening News man, aren't you?"
"Yes."
"Are you going to report this case?"
"Yes."
"For tomorrow's paper?"
"Yes."
"Would you mind putting in a line saying that the jury was out until 10 o'clock?"
"I'll mention it, if you wish."
"I certainly hope you will. You have no idea how much I want you to. You are a young man and probably you're not married yet, but some day you'll have a wife, and then you'll understand."—Newark News.

Them Hand Bags.
The hand bag that the lady wags
Was wide and deep—immense—
And it said bag the lady bore
One spoon of thread,
Fourteen hairpins,
Eight perfectly good buttons,
One thimble,
Three car tickets,
One recipe for sponge cake,
One manure set,
Six samples,
One handkerchief,
Two yards of ribbon,
One powder puff,
One chamomile skirt,
Three headache powders,
One flock of keys,
One package of chewing gum,
One mirror,
Two postage stamps,
Fifty-seven varieties of dingbats
And seven cents.
—Milwaukee Sentinel.

She Said It.
A visitor of noble birth was expected to arrive at a large country house in the north of England, and the daughter of the house, aged seven, was receiving final instructions from her mother.
"And now, dear," she said, "when the duke speaks to you do not forget always to say 'your grace.'" Presently the great man arrived, and after greeting his host and hostess he said to the child, "Well, my dear, and what is your name?" Judge of his surprise when the little girl solemnly closed her eyes and with clasped hands exclaimed, "For what we are about to receive may we be truly thankful, men!"—Ladies' Home Journal.

No Hero.
I never, never rode to hounds
Across the fields and brooks
Or drove a golf ball out of bounds
As people do in books.
I never talked in epigrams
To girls in cosy nooks
Or passed around those witty slams
As people do in books.
I never entertained a king
Or went out after rooks
In short, I've never done a thing
That people do in books.
—Kansas City Journal.

Hospitality.
A tourist who had been caught in a severe storm up in the highlands congratulated himself, after finding a solitary cottage, on being asked to stay overnight.
After dinner, while wearing a suit of the gold man's clothes till his own were dry, he met the mistress on the stairs with a broom in her hand, and she, mistaking the stranger for her husband, gave him a thump on the head with the broom, remarking, "That's for askin' the man to stay a' night!"
—London Weekly Telegraph.

The Old Chuck Wagon.
Oh, pard, I know the feelin's that are gnawin' in yer breast
When you've rode a bronco all mornin' an'
are achin' for a rest!
It's then yer eyes go roamin' for the shinin' wagon top
An' the campfire which announces it's the place for you to stop An' gee, the call of "grab pile!" There's nothin' half so sweet
As to quit yer tired broncho an' squat
down an' eat an' eat.
—Los Angeles Express.

Incongruous.
A clerical correspondent of one of the London church papers relates that a certain prelate had great difficulty in suppressing his laughter at the consecration of a church the other day owing to the device on one of the school banners which were carried in the procession before the service. This banner was adorned with a very fierce looking lion, with terrible claws and teeth, while underneath him was the legend, "Suffer little children to come unto me."

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/2 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

Why this man bought a Remington Junior
Typewriter

"I have been investigating several of the recent makes of machines, looking for one of simple construction for ordinary manuscript and letter writing. I was nearly ready to buy a machine of another make when I just happened to see for the first time the Remington Junior, and found it to be the very thing I wanted."

The man who wrote this is the postmaster of a small Southern town. He is only one of thousands who have recently bought a Remington Junior. But his reasons apply to everybody—they apply to YOU.

The Remington Junior is our latest product and the latest idea in typewriting.

It is strictly a high-grade machine.

It has the Remington Name, the Remington Guarantee, the Remington Quality—everything Remington except weight and bulk.

A "Simplified Remington" describes it exactly.

And its price is $50.00

Remington Junior Typewriters will be sent "on examination," without obligation to purchase.

Easy payment terms can be arranged if desired.
